Brand New Book  Print on Demand .In the early 70 s, when in his early 20 s and still a university student, Mauro Mevlud Martino was gaining some acclaim as a poet. He published poems in Canadian periodicals and magazines and was looked upon favorably by literary critics in the field of poetry and from professors. In fact, it was at that time in Toronto that he had a chance encounter with Irving Layton, nominated for the Nobel Prize for Literature in 1981 (the prize that year went to Gabriel Garcia Marquez) a professor, a poet, and recipient of the Governor-General s Award of Canada, Officer of the Order of Canada, and considered Leonard Cohen s mentor. During that meeting, it brought the young poet great happiness that the older poet and Zorba-like character had heard about him and encouraged him to become one of Canada s finest poets. So, what did he do? He stopped publishing his poems but went on writing. Flash forward to his early 60 s and Mr. Martino has emerged with 4 novel publications in the past year, film work as an actor, film production management, and jury member of film fesitvals. When asked, Why now? Why are you showing your work at this time? he answered, I understood back then that I could write but that I did not know life well enough. I wanted to live a little, think a little and get painted by the brush of life. This book, simply entitled POEMS has brought Mr. Martino full circle and back to his first love and the writing of poetry. This book reaches back and collects poems from the 40 years that have...
